Sexual Assault in Maryland

Of all adult women residing in Maryland, 19%, or about 457,000 adult women, have experienced some form of completed or attempted rape in their lifetime.¹ About 44%, or 1,058,000 of Maryland’s women, and more than 23% of Maryland’s men, about 520,800, have experienced other forms of sexual violence.²

FBI Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR)³

Below are the most recent county and gender specific statistics provided by the Governor’s Office of Crime and Control Prevention (GOCCP), which references information provided by the FBI’s Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program. In 2013, the UCR began collecting rape data under a revised definition with the Summary Reporting System. Beginning in the 2013 data year, the term “forcible” was removed from the offense title. UCR’s revised definition of rape is: penetration no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim.

- In 2017, 1,773 rapes were reported in Maryland. This represents a 2% decrease over 2015. In 2016, there were 29 rapes per 100,000 of population.
- In 2017, the three Maryland counties with the most rape reports were Baltimore County, Baltimore City, and Montgomery County.
- Of all rapes reported in Maryland during 2017, 93% were rape by force and 7% were attempts to rape.
- A total of 432 persons were arrested for rape in Maryland in 2017, with 48% Black, and 51% White and ¹ American Indian, Asian and Pacific Islander offenders.
  - 17% of those arrested for rape were under the age of 18.

National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey⁴

The 2012 National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey (NISVS) defined rape as any completed or attempted unwanted vaginal (for women), oral, or anal penetration through the use of physical force (such as being pinned or held down, or by the use of violence) or threatens to physically harm and includes times when the victim was drunk, high, drugged, or passed out and unable to consent. The survey used four types of sexual violence in addition to rape including being made to penetrate someone else, sexual coercion, unwanted sexual contact, and non-contact unwanted sexual experiences. The data in this section reflects those definitions.

- Maryland women have a high lifetime prevalence of sexual violence other than rape, totaling an estimated number of 1,773,000 women.
- An estimated 441,000 Maryland men have experienced sexual violence other than rape in their lifetime.
- Approximately 391,000 Maryland women have experienced contact sexual violence by an intimate partner in their lifetime.
- An estimated 420,000 Maryland women have experienced rape in their lifetime, or 18.2% of the female population in the state. However, an estimated 22.3% of non-Hispanic black women in Maryland have experienced rape in their lifetime, compared to 18% of white women.
- An estimated 329,000 Maryland men have experienced contact sexual violence in their lifetime, or 15.6% of the male population in the state.
